

The Center Robert C. Powers

January 18, 2009

Do You Want Obama to Succeed?

I heard a news media person on television yesterday say “Of course we want out President to Succeed.” Do we? Succeed in what?

I WANT Obama to succeed in protecting the United States and our interests abroad from terrorists. But how and at what cost?

BUT like most Democrats, he will likely weaken the military by cutting back on its size and quality. Keep an eye on this and call his hand if he tries. The world is too dangerous for this kind of foolhardiness.

BUT, like most Democrats, he will likely use the military for social programs such as authorizing homosexuals to operate freely within the ranks... thus weakening the military and its ability to recruit. Watch out for this. Military people will not tolerate it.

I WANT Obama to succeed in helping the economy recover (it’s not as bad as he portrays it... don’t let it become his excuse to promote socialist programs). But how and at what cost?

NOT at the expense of nationalizing banks and industry.

NOT at the expense of throwing billions of dollars at give away programs that do not produce jobs and useful business infrastructure,

NOT as a camouflaged way of creeping socialism into our country.

I DO NOT WANT Obama to succeed in imposing socialist programs.

I DO NOT WANT Obama to succeed in nationalizing medical care.

I DO NOT WANT Obama to succeed in opening borders to illegal immigrants and creating laws that excuse those illegal immigrants in the country.

I DO NOT WANT Obama to liberalize our foreign policy, start giving in to the weak kneed social democracies in Europe, or talking without conditions to Dictators in Iran, North Korea and other nests of evil.

We have seen that Obama can make things that are bad for the country sound good. Watch what he does, not what he says.

Watch the media carefully. When Bush took office there was an almost immediate campaign to “get him”. Complain loudly if the media gives Obama liberal slack.

Watch the Republicans. There are some whose backbone is rubbery. Let them know strongly that they must be a STRONG OPPOSITION to Obama on the things that count in maintaining the American way of life.

And STOP SAYING we want Obama to succeed unless you specify what you want him to succeed in, how he’s going to do it, how much it’s going to cost, how long it will take and what results (or repercussions) we can expect.

As always, solutions at or near THE CENTER are best and most achievable. Obama DOES NOT have a mandate to take us to the left. Don’t let him. Be a loyal opposition... BUT BE AN OPPOSITION!
